

WJ BRYAN IS TO BE THE NEXT CANDIDATE

EX-SEN. JONES WRITES ON LATER BOOM

BY JAS. K. JONES, OF ARKANSAS
Chairman of the National Democratic Committee in 1896 and 1900.

I have already stated in interviews my preference for Wm. Jennings Bryan as the next democrat standard bearer. I believe he will be the next president of the United States.

Mr. Bryan never and will not in the future be governed by selfish ambition. I consider him one of the most unselfish men I ever knew. Even now, I believe he would step aside and aid in the nomination and election of another man, if it should seem that the cause can best be served in that way.

The present widespread and spontaneous movement in favor of Bryan is the logic of events. Bryan was the pioneer of the policies which are now so emphatically and unmistakably approved by the public at large. The proper regulation of railways, of great monopolistic combinations of capital—all the reforms which have been shown to be necessary by such developments as the life insurance investigations, the beef trust scandals, and the discriminations and bribery in the business of common carriers—these are the reforms which Mr. Bryan urged upon the country in 1896.

The people have approved the Roosevelt administration in its efforts to work reforms along these lines. But there is a feeling in the public mind that whatever Roosevelt has done in this way has been without the sincere help or approval of his party and its leaders. And small credit will be given to the party for the excellent record of the Roosevelt administration.

In speaking a successor to Roosevelt the people are not likely to find him in the ranks of the republican organization. The logical successor, in fact—the man most likely to be qualified to carry out the policies which the people want carried out—is Bryan, the pioneer of these policies.

Bryan is more conservative than he was 12 years ago. He is more experienced. He is older. Not only do I think he is so regarded by many people who formerly thought him otherwise. He is better known. In 1896 he was a new figure before the country. He was abused and made the object of a bitter campaign of misrepresentation and abuse. The purpose was to frighten people into voting against him.

There has been a change in public thought. The public conscience has been quickened. The people know Bryan better.

The silver issue no longer plays any part. It has been eliminated by the logic of events. The truth of the economic principles for which Bryan contended has been demonstrated in an unlooked-for way, namely the sudden and vast increase in the production of gold. Mr. Bryan believed that the volume of money must be increased. Nobody could foresee the vast new supplies of gold and it was natural to believe that the increase in volume of the metallic currency could be secured only by the monetization of silver. But this has been rendered unnecessary by the coming of the new gold. The end is accomplished, namely a return of prosperity.

NIXON TALKS AGAIN

U. S. Sen. Nixon, has arrived in Winnemucca and has delivered himself of an interview in which he says he has asked for a lot of money to be put into government departments in this state. The congressional record does not show that any of this money has been appropriated however. Speaking of politics he says: "there is a growing and seemingly irresistible sentiment in favor of Bryan as the Democratic presidential nominee of 1908. On the republican side the choice seems to lie between Roosevelt and Fairbanks, the respective choices of what may be termed the radical and the conservative wings of the party."

THESE ARE SHORT ONES

A Reno widow of 36 summers is so anxious to get married that she sent a letter to the warden of the Colorado penitentiary asking that a husband be sent her from that penal institution. She gave no reason for preferring Colorado convicts to Nevada's.

Jake Buckland, a Finn, became demented at Montello last Tuesday, and after running over eight miles to his bare feet was captured by officers.

The governor created some new notaries public, and a commissioner of deeds, resident in London, England.

Don't forget the ball game Sunday. The Carson City nine has the hardest fight it ever had, and the game will be a good one.

Harry Butts, who shot one Reynolds, a year and a half ago in Reno, will ask the board of pardons to release him from the penitentiary.

Harry Mighels, left yesterday for the southern mining districts on business connected with the sale of some mining property.

Fletcher Proctor, son of Redfield Proctor has been nominated for governor of Vermont.

Four men were shot to death in an attempt of convicts to escape from the Angelo, La., convict farm.

The Tonopah Lumber Company contemplates the erection of a string of opera houses at Tonopah, Goldfield, Manhattan, Beatty and Rhyolite.

Governor Sparks, came to the capital city today to attend to official business.

N. H. A. Mason, better known over the state as "Hock" Mason, arrived this morning, and will spend a few days in this section of the state. He is interested in some court matters and in the Silver Peak mining cases.

Charlie Epstein and Mrs. Agnews, his sister, who come here to attend the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. Reilly, will return to Tonopah in a few days.

L. H. Rogers, returned to the city last night from Tonopah. He is here with others to grab the republican state convention at the central committee meeting Saturday.

Charles Stout, one of the proprietors of the Arlington returned from a trip east, last night. He reports everything as booming back east and says that many are talking about Nevada and asking as to opportunities in this state.

Registration is slow. Every voter should understand that it is absolutely necessary for him to register, in order that he may vote this fall. Those that registered for the school election must do so again, and the sooner the better.

The Monday Call states that T. B. Rickey hesitates about becoming a candidate for Governor on account of having an ambition to become United States Senator from Nevada.

The city is filling up with republican central committee men to attend the session of the state organization Saturday at the Arlington.

Don't forget that those interested are requested to meet Saturday evening to talk over plans for a sporting carnival to be held in this city next September.

P. H. and Mrs. Mulcahy, have returned from Tonopah where they went to attend the session of the grand lodge, I. O. O. F.

A change has been made in the schedule, and the Dayton ball team will play the Capital City team Sunday instead of the Reno team.

PLEASE SIT UP AND TAKE NOTICE

One of the greatest opportunities for the betterment of Carson City hangs on the tip of the lowest branch of the tree of prosperity, and some of the Silurians of Carson City are too fast asleep to pluck it off.

The new Winder branch is about to be opened. The V. & T. railroad company is prepared to put a good rate for both freight and passenger traffic into operation, as soon as the branch is opened.

The line taps the richest valley in the state of Nevada, without exception, and the people of that valley are alive with excitement and desire to establish trade relations with a city that can serve them easily and cheaply.

San Francisco, as a source of supply is out of the question for some time.

Reno draws from the east and west now, as must Carson, and differential freights allow Carson City wholesalers and merchants to get supplies almost as cheaply as before.

Yet with all the trade of the rich valley now about to open up, with all the chance to boom Carson City and make it the supply point for this great valley, not a thing has been done in a general way by Carson City.

The railroad has put in the new branch, predicted as a false alarm, and knocked as detriment to the city. The rates will be equable and just, and the service adequate to the demand, corollary with successful railroad management, and all that remains to do is for Carson City to get together and go after this business.

Easy communication means increased business in every part of the state. It is a mistake to say a railroad hurts business because it carries people through that certain place. Trade follows the least line of resistance, and that line now starts at Carson City.

A vast colonization project is being put into shape down south and will be pushed to completion. The prosperity of Douglas county has been a proverb in the mouths of men for a decade. Now the railroad is in. Let some of the croakers and mossbacks wake up long enough to brush the flies off and Carson City will have all this business, just as other towns in this state have grasped the business of the territory contiguous to them.

The southern country and upper valleys belong to Carson City geographically, sentimentally and commercially, and if she loses them it is the fault of her own citizens.

MAKE SERIOUS CHARGES

Suit was begun Wednesday in the District Court by H. J. Blaker and Austin B. Fletcher against W. O. Manson to recover about $75,000, alleged to be due the plaintiffs from the defendant on a contract. The complaint alleges that an agreement was signed in 1904 between the three parties to the litigation whereby a corporation was to be formed, each of the three subscribing an equal amount, for the purpose of purchasing ore dumps in Manhattan. The defendant, says the plaintiffs, was sent $49,000 by the two plaintiffs, who waited in vain for returns on their money. The complaint alleges that both by letter and personally, Manson was urged to give an accounting, but neither, says the complaint, did he do so or put up his one-third of the capitalization, his third amounting to $24,500. Now they ask for the return of the money they sent him and his proportion of the funds which, according to the agreement, he was to furnish for the enterprise. W. O. Manson is well known throughout the state as a mining man, and holds an interest in the J. M. Fulton Brokerage Company.
